Pump Houses

The new pump house on the front nine is complete and operational. We now have the ability to use the system specifically for each hole that has been completed with the irrigation updates.

The pump house on the back nine received a new control panel last week, which has an electric timer for lake fills, and a variable frequency drive which ensures a soft start and helps with longevity of the system as well as more consistent pressure when watering.

Front Nine Irrigation

With the weather steadily improving, the construction on the irrigation project is coming to a close. Milroy systems is estimating that the project will be completed by the first half of June.
